Justification

To DROP the Business Intelligence CONCENTRATION

During Spring 2017, the Board of Regents approved the renaming of the ISDS department to the Stephenson Department of Entrepreneurship & Information Systems. A new BS Entrepreneurship degree was added, and all Entrepreneurship related courses were migrated from the Rucks Department of Management to the Stephenson Department of Entrepreneurship & Information Systems, and a new ENTR rubric was created for all Entrepreneurship courses. New ENTR courses were added, and new Entrepreneurship faculty were added. While this transition was taking place, ISDS faculty conducted an extensive review of the BS ISDS and ITM Minor and benchmarked against other top programs, as well as ACM/AIS standards. An update to the major and minor is being proposed.

This action to DROP the BUSINESS INTELLIGENCE Concentration reflect an update to the major that incorporates a new core requirement, and provides more flexibility for students to customize their curriculum based on contemporary career paths.
